

Apple Sugar Scrub Cubes!

Fall is upon us and what better way to celebrate fall than with apples! Dry skin season is starting which is the perfect time to start making and selling scrubs. These scrub cubes put a twist on the traditional scrub in a jar, perfectly proportions for one time use.

These delicious smelling apple sugar scrub cubes are sure to sell quickly plus are easy to make and come together quickly! Packaging can be done in clamshells making them easy to pop out or cut into cubes and placed into a jar. They would be so cute with our new advent calendars too!

Skill Level: Easy

Duration: 20 minutes

Makes: 8 oz.

Ingredients:

- 2 oz. Foaming Bath Butter
- 1 oz. Cocoa Butter
- 2 ml Macintosh Apple Fragrance Oil
- 1 drop Extreme Red and/or Extreme Green Soap Dye
- 6 oz. Granulated Sugar (white or organic)

Equipment:

- Clamshells or Mold if cutting into squares
- Jars (if cutting into squares)
- Scale
- Microwave
- Microwave safe bowl or measuring cup
- Stirring spoon

Instructions:

1. Cut Foaming Bath Butter into cubes and weigh 2 oz. Place into a microwave safe container.
2. Weigh 1 oz. Cocoa Butter and add to the microwave safe container.
3. Melt Foaming Bath Butter and Cocoa Butter on 50 power until almost melted. Stir to melt the remainder.
4. Add fragrance oil and color to the container and stir well.
5. Add sugar and quickly mix sugar until everything is cohesive.
6. Pour and press into mold or clamshells.

7. Let the scrub harden for a few hours. It will remain slightly tacky but it stays together enough to cut or pop out of clamshells. Do not put the clamshell covers on until the mixture is fully cooled.
8. Cut into cubes if placed into a mold and store in airtight containers.
9. Enjoy!
